Our most awesome
back yard camping advice
by Xavier and Zulou

We are staying at home right now, but we have heaps to do! Zu and I are going to share some awesome backyard camping tips with you. Cool.

How to set up camp...

Xavier: Walk into the backyard and look for the best spot. Ask Mum and Dad to set up the tent. You should help and maybe even blow up the mattresses.

Zulou: Don't forget to roll out sleeping bags and set-up the camping chairs and blankets to sit on! You should also put a lantern in the tent, so you can see when it's dark.

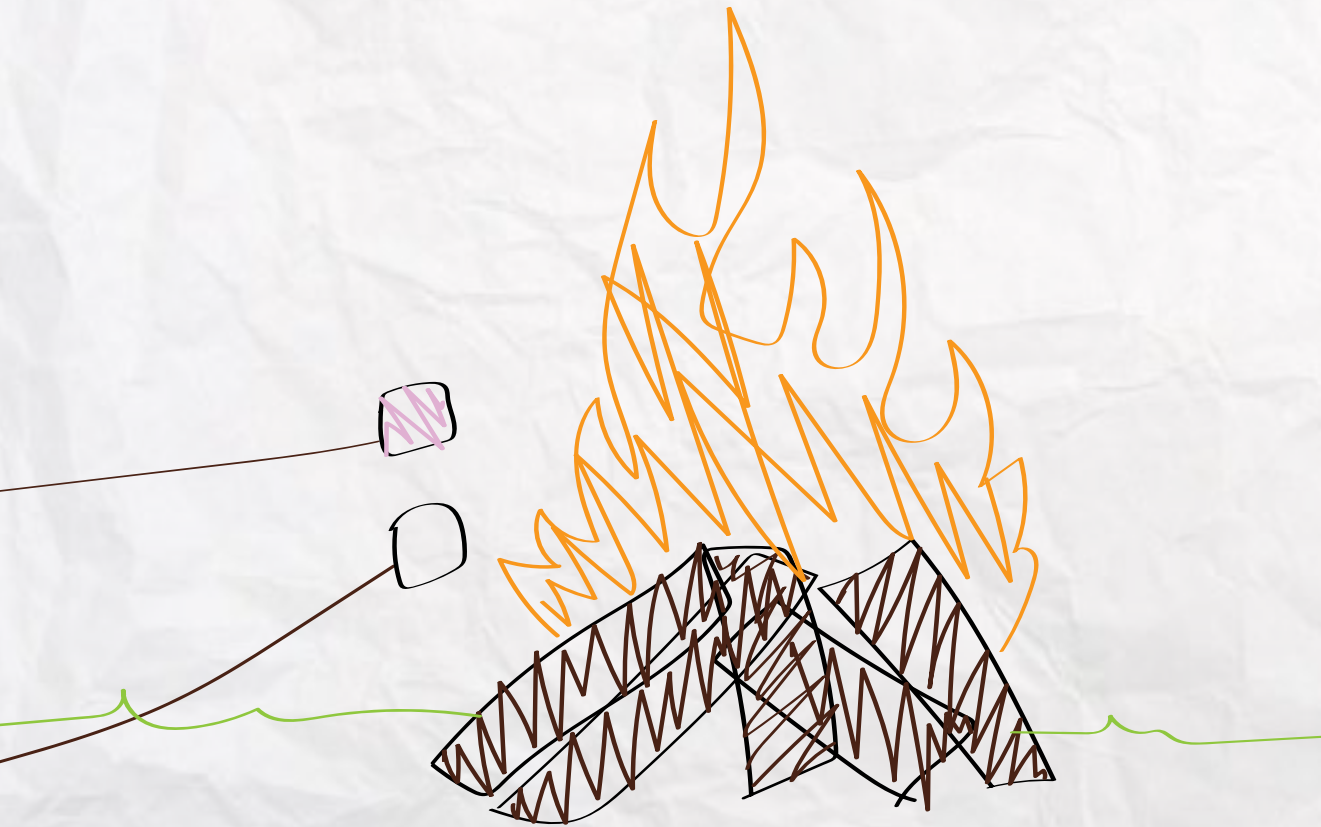

Have a look around...

Zulou: After setting up, it's good to go for a walk and explore. This is great to collect little things like special sticks and special rocks and stuff.

Xavier: Yeah, you can also find flowers, animals and other cool stuff, like seeds or colourful fruit!

Cooking on the fire...

Xavier: You can help put the wood and the paper into the fire-pit. Don't forget to find a stick in the yard and sharpen it, so you can roast marshmallows.

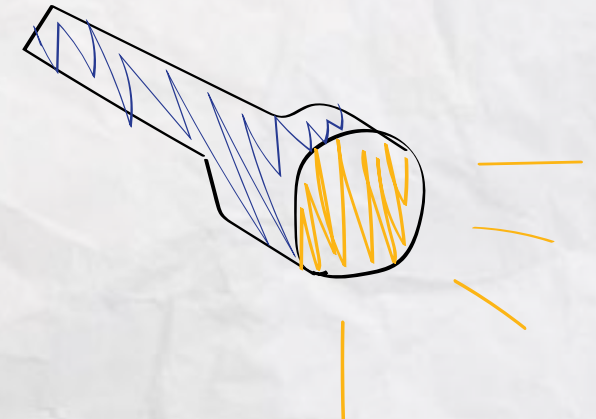

Zulou: Oh yeah, marshmallows! They are hot outside, but gooey and yummy inside. Another food for a fire is frankfurters. You can put them on a stick and dip them into tomato sauce!

What to do when the sun goes down...

Zulou: I love laying on the ground, looking at the stars. If you have a telescope, the stars are even bigger! You can also play snakes and ladders or some sort of game.

Xavier: The best thing to do is get torches and go for a nightwalk. After a walk we would play something in the tent, like a board-game or cards.

Tent/Bed time...

Xavier: I love reading a book with Mum and Dad.

Zulou: The best thing is telling spooky stories and then being cuddled and tucked in.

Favourite part of backyard camping...

Xavier: Mine is spending time with my family outside and roasting marshmallows. And also trying to sneak our iPads into the tent.

Zulou: Exploring and playing outside!

If you want to try out some camping, check out Black Wolf. Our Dad owns some of their gear and their tents are cool.

As annoying as they are, remember to have fun with your Mum and Dad.
